

Camping Gear List

Boy Scout Troop 534 "Hey!" - www.troop534.org

Updated October 2007

Responsibility Rests With the Scout

Each Scout is responsible for packing his own gear.

Parents might help, but if the Scout learns this himself, that's one less headache for the parents!

Key Points

We always travel in full Class A Boy Scout uniform, to and from our destination.

Class A Uniform means official BSA Scout shirt, pants, hat, socks, belt, and shoes.

Parents, please inform adult leaders of all prescriptions that your Scout is required to take.

Always pack long underwear on every trip. You never know how cold it will get at night.

Always pack your rain poncho at the top of your pack. You never know when it will rain.

Main Gear

duffel bag or backpack (waterproof) sleeping bag (properly packed) ground cloth
flashlight & batteries
first aid kit
belt
underwear
undershirts or T-shirts socks
boots (waterproof)
rain poncho
pants (jeans)
long underwear
shower shoes
Scout handbook
notebook, pens, & paper full Class A Scout uniform canteen or water bottle sweatpants & sweatshirt laundry bag
knit hat
extra blanket

Toiletries

toothbrush
toothpaste
soap
hand towel
bath towel(s)
prescription medicines
deodorant
comb
nail clippers
toilet paper
insect repellent

Optional/Seasonal Gear

shorts
swimming trunks
swim goggles
eyeglasses
bag lunch
waterproof matches
merit badge books
small backpack for day trips compass
water shoes

Where to Shop

Wal-Mart
Army/Navy Surplus Stores
BSA Scout Shop

More Tips

Never leave food in your tent. The animals will find your food and then they will find you.

Always travel with a buddy. The buddy system is in force at all times.

Scouts, if you have questions about what you see here, speak with your Patrol Leader.